

THE SWORD TO FALL BEFORE VERY LONG

CRISIS IS APPROACHING IN TURKEY

The Powers of Europe, It Is Believed, Will Not Much Longer Withhold Their Wrath—Turks Preparing for Another Outbreak—London Times Is Against Any Action.

Constantinople, Sept. 13 (via Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 12).—To those who have eyes to see there is more and more evidence of the approach of a crisis in the affairs of the decrepit Ottoman empire. But the Turk himself offers no signs of an appreciation of the fate that is impending over him, in the limit that has apparently been reached in the patience of the European powers, with the process of extermination of the Armenians that has been steadily and relentlessly pursued by the Turks. There is no diminution in the rancor displayed by the Mussulmans toward the Armenians and no sign of the relinquishment of the Turk's contention that the Armenians are persistent and determined revolutionists and agitators against the sovereignty of the sultan, and, as such, invite the stringent repressive measures that had been used against them.

Since Friday there has been a large increase of the patrols of cavalry in Therapia, the suburb of Constantinople in which are situated the French and English ambassadors' residences, and in Buyukdere and Pera. This is the sultan's precautionary measure against future outrages, in compliance with the warning contained in the note from the powers. These troops, it is understood, come under the authority of those who are warned that they will be responsible if outbreaks involving the destruction of property and loss of life occur. But the troops are at the same time instructed that they are authorized to use their arms in self-defense if attacked. These so-called precautionary measures have not improved the situation and have rather served to extend the feeling of terrorism on account of the feeling of doubt as to what secondary and veiled meaning may be hidden behind the letter of the instructions to the troops. Meantime the British relief committee is busy with the work of helping the distressed Armenians.

The official Turkish estimate of the number of victims of the massacres in this city is 1,100. Other estimates run pretty much all the way upward from this figure. The official estimate is coupled with the allegation that many of those killed were in reality Turks, but that they were buried with the Armenians, and so their number went to swell the supposed number of Armenian victims. This is undoubtedly designed as an apology and explanation of the assertion contained in the note of the powers that the savage bands which murderously attacked the Armenians and pillaged their houses were not accidental gatherings of fanatical people or undirected mobs, but that there was every indication of special organization, and of its being known to, if not directed by, the authorities. In foreign circles here the statements that Turks were killed along with the Armenians are denied.

The actual number of the victims of the disorders were certainly 5,000, and will probably reach 6,000. The military authorities state that three soldiers were killed and thirty were wounded. The porte states that 170 Mussulmans were wounded.

All Mussulmans who have yet been tried by the extraordinary tribunal appointed to pass judgment on those implicated in the recent massacre have been acquitted of the charge of complicity. The evidence against many of these was deemed by foreign residents here conclusive, and the failure to hold them adds to the conviction that the porte has no intention of complying with the demand of the powers that the culprits shall be brought to punishment. In view of this failure to punish the authors of the outrages upon the Armenians, the state of terrorism among the Armenians continues unabated, and the exodus of these people goes on with no diminution.

"TIMES" AGAINST INTERFERENCE.

London Newspaper Apprehensive of a General European War.
London, Sept. 14.—Vice-Admiral Sir John Omanney Hopkins, K. C. B., has been appointed to succeed Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, K. C. B., as commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean station.

A dispatch from Constantinople published here asserts that a wholesale massacre of Christians is planned to occur there within a fortnight, and that Armenians have been deported from there on board ships and have been drowned in batches.

The Times in an editorial discussing the utterances of Lord Rosebery and Henry Asquith on the Armenian question, says: "Lord Rosebery and Mr. Asquith have assumed a very grave responsibility. It is easy to conjure a whirlwind of national wrath, but it would baffle the strongest will and most sagacious judgment to direct the storm when it is raised. Are the agitators prepared to face a European war? If not, let them pause while there is yet time."

Conspiracy to Depose the King.

London, Sept. 14.—A conspiracy has been discovered at Belgrade to depose King Alexander of Serbia.

NOTIFY THE LEADERS.

Gold Men at Louisville, Ky.—Message from President Cleveland.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 14.—Gold democrats did honor to the nominees of their party for president and vice-president at the Auditorium Saturday night. The occasion was the formal notification to the candidates of the action of the Indianapolis convention. Senator Donelson Caffery made the speech notifying Gen. John M. Palmer, and Col. John R. Fellows tendered to Gen. S. B. Buckner the honor of second place on the national ticket. The speeches of these men, together with messages of sympathy from leaders of the movement who were unable to attend the notification ceremonies, drew forth repeated outbursts of cheering.

W. D. Bynum read the following message from President Cleveland: "Buzard's Bay, Mass., Sept. 10.—To the Hon. W. D. Bynum: I regret that I cannot accept your invitation to attend the notification meeting on Saturday evening. As a democrat, devoted to the principles and integrity of my party, I should be delighted to be present on an occasion so significant, and to mingle with those who are determined that the voice of true democracy shall not be smothered and insist that its glorious standard shall be borne aloft as of old in faithful hands."

"GROVER CLEVELAND."

Expressions of fealty to the gold wing of the party were read from Secretaries Carlisle, Francis and Lamont.

Senator Caffery formally announced to Gen. Palmer the action of the Indianapolis convention, and the nominee of the gold democrats responded. Gen. Buckner responded to Col. Fellows' speech of notification.

FEUD ENDS IN BLOOD.

Thomas Stemons Shot at Paris, Ill., After Trouble Over Two Children.

Paris, Ill., Sept. 14.—As a result of a family feud Thomas Stemons lies at his home in this city with a gunshot wound in his thigh. B. L. Stemons, son of the wounded man, married a daughter of Benjamin McCalmont four years ago, and the couple have two children. One year ago they were divorced, and since that time the custody of the children has been the source of bitter controversy between the grandparents. Sunday Stemons and his son went to the home of McCalmont during his absence and took possession of the children. In the evening Thomas Stemons was shot while sitting on his front porch. Benjamin J. McCalmont is under arrest. Both men are members of the Grand Army of the Republic.

"Number One" Is Captured.

Boulogne, Sept. 14.—Tynan, the notorious "Number One," has been arrested here on a Scotland Yard warrant which was issued in 1882. Tynan arrived in Europe by landing in Genoa in August. He proceeded from there to Paris, where he remained for some days consorting with a number of the members of the dynamite faction of the Irish party.

His movements had been watched from the time he had arrived in French territory. The local commissary of police, together with an English detective, burst into his room at 4 o'clock in the morning. Tynan was secured and admitted his identity. Incriminating papers and a large sum of money were found in his possession. The prisoner was lodged in a cell in the Boulogne police station, and he will be arraigned with a view to his extradition to England.

Gold Bonanza in Wyoming.

Rawlins, Wyo., Sept. 14.—There is much excitement here over a recent gold discovery on Grand Encampment creek, about forty-five miles southeast of this city. The discovery was made by A. H. Huston and Benjamin Cullen in July. At a depth of twelve feet they have, it is claimed, a pay streak twenty-two inches wide, assays from which give returns from $200 to $10,000 in gold. The vein has been traced for several miles. Forty or fifty claims have been located. Numerous parties are preparing to go to the camp as rapidly as they can.

Dr. Dearborn May Recover.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 14.—Rev. Dr. John A. Dearborn, ex-president for Missouri of the American Protective Association, who was Saturday assaulted and nearly killed, regained partial consciousness yesterday, and it is now thought he will recover. Owing to the fact that he is over 70 years of age and feeble, however, the ultimate result may prove more serious than is now anticipated. The police have no clew to the assailant.

Railway Bridge Goes Down.

Eureka, Cal., Sept. 14.—A train on the Mad River & Arcata road went through the Mad river bridge Sunday. Six cars loaded with passengers dropped thirty feet into the dry bed of the river. Annie Holland, Sandy Cameron, Miss Kirk of Riverside, Cal., and a child were killed and ten others were seriously injured. The accident was caused by the giving way of a span of the bridge over which the train was passing.

Miss Clara Barton Arrives Home.

New York, Sept. 14.—Among the arrivals on the steamship Umbria Saturday was Miss Clara Barton of the Red Cross Society, who has just returned from the scenes of the Armenian troubles. She is well and enjoyed the trip intensely.

M'KINLEY KEPT BUSY GREETING THROGS

THOUSANDS OF VISITORS AT CANTON, OHIO.

Chicago Democratic Commercial Club Calls on the Republican Nominee—Large Delegation of Pennsylvania Railroad Men—Many Others to Come.

Canton, O., Sept. 14.—Saturday was a busy day in Canton. Two train loads of the Commercial Democratic McKinley club of Chicago, 900 in number, reached here at 9:40 o'clock a. m. to call upon Major McKinley. They were given a hearty welcome.

Following closely upon the call of the Chicago commercial men came the beginning of Pennsylvania's delegation, which surpassed in size, noise and enthusiasm all of its predecessors. The first division to arrive was the steel workers of the Carnegie mills at Homestead. They came in a special train of three sections aggregating thirty-three coaches, each packed to the platform.

After the delegations from Chicago and Homestead had gone, 1,800 people from McKeesport, Pa., and employees of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, gathered with thousands of other people about the house. Major McKinley mounted a chair to speak to the Pennsylvania delegation when the storm came in terrific fury. The meeting adjourned to the tabernacle, where he spoke. A thousand people clustered in and about the house and under trees, and to them he spoke on his return home.

Twelve delegations have arranged to call on Major McKinley in the next six days. The Americus and Tariff clubs of Pittsburgh have decided to come to Canton on Friday to participate in the opening of the campaign by Senators Thurston and Cullom and others. The Chicago railway men, who are expected here Saturday, will find other delegations also, and the indications are that this week will out-class all previous ones in numbers and enthusiasm. Major McKinley spent a Sunday of quiet. Colonel Myron T. Herrick, of Cleveland, was a guest.

Sheehan Will Not Support Bryan.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14.—National Committeeman William F. Sheehan has given out a statement criticising the Chicago platform, declaring that he cannot support the nominees, and expressing his intention of resigning his place on the national committee in case the state convention, which is to assemble here Wednesday, does not repudiate the national platform and reiterate the platform adopted last June. Mr. Sheehan has not arrived here yet. The statement was given out in the form of a letter to Joseph B. Mayer of this city, who was a delegate to the national convention.

Bourke Cochran Speaks at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Burke Cochran, the witty New Yorker, addressed a large audience at the Auditorium Saturday night, speaking for gold. Outside thousands turned away unable to gain admittance. The disappointed made their way to Battery D, where they expected later to hear the speaker. He was too tired, however, to make a second speech, and Judge Moran and others addressed the overflow meeting there.

Will Speak in Michigan for Gold.

Niles, Mich., Sept. 14.—The republican state central committee has secured the Rev. Dr. F. Gunsaulus of Chicago to deliver special speeches in Michigan in defense of the gold standard. He will deliver his first speech in this city on Friday, Sept. 18. Other points where he will speak will be Kalamazoo, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Owosso and Flint.

Doctor Accused of Murder.

Holland, Mich., Sept. 14.—Dr. J. D. Wetmore, who returned from the north Saturday morning, having suddenly left here when the murder of Enos Lawrence was discovered, was arrested on a charge of being implicated in the murder. Since the conviction of Mrs. Lawrence Judge Padgham delayed sentencing her in order to obtain the whole truth. Mrs. Lawrence now says that Wetmore devised the murder and helped to do it.

May Fight the Dervishes Soon.

Cairo, Sept. 14.—Word has been received from the front that Egyptian troops with the Nile expedition are concentrated at Fereigh, only twenty-three miles from the dervish outpost at Koma, where the dervishes have been concentrating re-enforcements of cavalry as though with the intention of making a stand against the British advance.

Spain Yields to the United States.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The Spanish government has yielded to the demands of the United States for a trial by civil court of the Competitor prisoners. Authentic information to this effect has reached the state department unofficially and formal announcement is expected in the next mail from Minister Taylor in Madrid.

England's Bank Rate to Advance.

London, Sept. 14.—The financial article in the Standard says: "In view of the pending American demands for gold, it is common prudence to expect a possible rise in the Bank of England rate of discount by Thursday."

HERE IS SOME NEWS FROM THE CAPITOL

BRYAN WILL ADDRESS AN IM- MENSE AUDIENCE.

Democratic Managers Evolve a Unique Plan—Chairman Jones Has an Interview With Senator Gorman—Plans of Colorado Silver Men—Powderly Is Denounced.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The local democratic managers have secured the consent of Vice President Stevenson and Speaker Reed for a Bryan meeting in the capitol grounds next Saturday, and a speaker's platform will be erected where incoming presidents stand while delivering their inauguration addresses.

The plaza of the capitol will accommodate from 50,000 to 60,000 people. The people are expected from all over the surrounding towns of Maryland and Virginia, and from more distant points. Mr. Bryan will address an audience possibly as large as a president-elect ever faced on the day of his inauguration.

Gen. Black, chairman of the national association of democratic clubs, has issued an address, asking clubs throughout the country to celebrate the anniversary by reading the farewell address. He says in his letter that the request is made at the suggestion of Mr. Bryan, who will incorporate the address in his speech and comment upon such parts as may seem to him to apply to the questions now before the people.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14.—William J. Bryan, who arrived here Saturday night and made three speeches in the course of the evening, enjoyed a quiet Sunday. He was visited by many citizens at his rooms at the Planters' hotel, but he did not enter to any extent upon the discussion of political questions. From here he will continue on his way to the south.

At three great mass-meetings he addressed between 30,000 and 35,000 people.

DENOUNCE POWDERLY.

Knights of Labor Repudiate the Cooper Union Speech.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The Knights of Labor, indignant at what they term the "treason" of ex-Master Workman T. V. Powderly, have furnished the democratic campaign committees, it is said, with copies of letters written by their late leader in his official capacity to be used to offset his present efforts in behalf of the republican ticket and platform. It is said that wherever Mr. Powderly speaks during the campaign copies of letters he has written denouncing the party he now espouses will be circulated among the audience.

New York, Sept. 14.—Workingmen, responding to a call by District Assembly No. 49, Knights of Labor, filled Cooper Union Saturday night and protested against the speech of Terence V. Powderly delivered at Cooper Union on Tuesday night. After several speeches, resolutions were passed bitterly denouncing Powderly for his attitude.

JONES SEES GORMAN.

Democratic National Chairman Has a Conference With the Maryland Senator.

Washington, Sept. 14.—James K. Jones, chairman of the democratic national committee, is in Washington, and will have a conference to-day with Senators Faulkner and Butler and others of the campaign managers. Senators Jones and Gorman talked freely about the campaign, but not a word was given out about the conference other than that it had reference to the general outlook. It is understood, however, that the situation in New York occupied much of the time of the two gentlemen. A subsequent statement that Mr. Gorman was expected to leave for the Empire state within the next twenty-four hours lends color to the belief that there will be a conference between Senators Gorman and Hill in the near future.

Name Two Silver Tickets.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 14.—The efforts to consolidate the four silver parties of Colorado in support of one state ticket in the coming election proved a failure. The democrats and silver republicans, however, have combined forces in support of a ticket headed by Alva Adams, democrat, for governor, and the populists effected a fusion with the silver party, their joint ticket headed by Judge M. S. Bailey, populist. These four parties, however, have all united in support of the Bryan and Sewall electoral ticket. There remains one state convention yet to be held—that of the McKinley republicans.

Secure the Necessary Funds.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 14.—The trans-Mississippi and international exposition is assured beyond doubt, the $300,000 necessary to make the government appropriation available having been subscribed. The directors have decided that efforts must not be relaxed, but that subscriptions should be solicited until at least $500,000 was subscribed.

One Dead, the Other Dying.

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 14.—William Shinnall Thursday caught his clerk, Patty Buck, at Hecktown with Mrs. Shinnall. Buck was shot five times and will die. Shinnall was killed instantly with the first shot.

LANDS REVERT TO STATE.

Thousands of Acres in Michigan Now Open to Homestead Entry.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 14.—The lumbermen who operated in Michigan during the height of the pine industry purchased vast tracts of land, which they stripped and then practically abandoned, permitting them to be returned to the state year after year for the non-payment of taxes. It finally became a serious problem what to do with these lands, from which no revenue was received, and in 1893 the legislature passed a law requiring the auditor general to deed to the state all lands which were returned delinquent for taxes for three consecutive years, such lands to be held by the state land commissioner subject to homestead entry.

From the report of the commissioner it is learned that the state now holds for sale and homestead a total of 581,457.75 acres of land, 14,988.16 acres having been sold during the fiscal year just closed for $53,208. The total receipts of the office, including the above and payments, penalties, and interest on lands sold in former years, were $88,247.

Must Be Settled in Court.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—There is a strong probability that the failure of Governor Matthews to confirm the appointment of James E. McCullough as a member of the state board of election commissioners will be made an issue in the courts to test the legality of the constitution of the board. Leading lawyers who have carefully investigated the question within the past three days, say that there is no alternative given the governor but to confirm the nominees of the two parties, and that until McCullough's appointment is withdrawn by Chairman Holt or he resigns the position the governor cannot legally accept the recommendation of any one else.

Hill May Not Go to Buffalo.

New York, Sept. 14.—It is reported that Senator Hill will not go to Buffalo to attend the democratic state convention even as a spectator. The state convention being so completely in the hands of men favorable to the adoption of a free coinage plank, the nomination of candidates for governor and lieutenant-governor who radically favor the silver movement may be expected. The Albany delegates still think that Mayor John Boyd Thatcher will be the nominee for governor. The other strong candidate is Frederick Cook of Rochester, ex-secretary of state. The belief is that James W. Ridgway of Brooklyn will be nominated for lieutenant-governor.

Vote to Admit Women.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 14.—The northwest Indiana conference voted eighty-five to six to sustain the action of the general conference in admitting women delegates. By a vote of fifty-three to forty-five it declared in favor of equal lay representation in the general conference. The question of a meeting place next year was left with the five presiding elders.

To Investigate Mexico's Finances.

Denver, Col., Sept. 14.—The Denver Trade and Labor assembly has decided to send a committee to Mexico to investigate the conditions of labor in a free-silver country. This is done because it is alleged by them that the committee recently sent to Mexico by the Chicago assembly is under the influence of the gold democrats.

Cotton Mills Shut Down.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 14.—The Nashville cotton mills have shut down for six weeks. The present high price of cotton is assigned as the cause. The mills have been running with a short force for some time, and the shut-down throws 200 hands out of employment. The full force is 1,000 hands.

CATE IS ENDORSED BY THE POPULISTS

EIGHTH DISTRICT CONVENTION HELD TO DAY.

Committee Notified the Judge, Who Said He Wanted a Week In Which to Make Up His Mind Whether Or Not to Accept the Honor.

Stevens Point, Wis., Sept. 14.—[Special]—The eighth congressional populist district convention was held in this city to-day at which time it was decided to endorse Judge G. W. Cate. A committee was appointed to confer with the judge in regard to his acceptance and reported that he asked for a week in which to consider the question.

NEW SANITARY MEASURE.

Draft of a Bill to Be Presented to the Illinois General Assembly.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 14.—The committee appointed to formulate a bill regulating the sanitary conditions of the state, to be presented to the state legislature for enactment, has practically completed its labor. In substance the bill provides that the state board of health shall make a thorough and comprehensive study of sanitary matters; have entire supervision over all public supplies of portable waters and their sources; the development and utilization of underground sources and impose penalties for the contamination of water supplies. The state board of health is also charged with the methods and means of collection and disposal of sewage and all sewer systems will be subject to its approval.

Hunt a Murderer with Bloodhounds.

Brazil, Ind., Sept. 14.—Bloodhounds, constables, undersheriffs and volunteer officers are hunting the Eel river bottoms for Grief Hill, who, according to his daughter, murdered his landlord, Robert Taylor, early Wednesday evening. Since the dead body of the lawyer and real estate man was found in his buggy and his horse grazing along the country road the morning after he was killed, the men and the dogs have been looking for the supposed murderer. But the task of finding him seems as far from finished now as when it was begun.

Watson at Lincoln, Neb.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14.—Tom Watson of Georgia, vice-presidential candidate on the populist ticket, stopped thirty minutes Sunday evening at Lincoln. Mr. Watson was accompanied by J. S. Reed of Atlanta. They arrived at 5:45 and left on the Burlington for York at 6:15 p. m. He was met at the train by Gov. Holcomb and others. He went from York to-day to Osceola, where he delivers the first of three speeches.

Georgia Town Ready for War.

Blythe, Ga., Sept. 14.—Several hundred armed negroes are supposed to be moving toward this place, and the handful of white citizens are awaiting them, not without some fear, though they will make a firm stand. If there is to be trouble it will be some time later than this, and it is not feared that the mob of negroes will come before a late hour. The cause of the trouble is the shooting of a negro, Steve Boland, by M. A. Clark, for which the negroes threaten to massacre several white men.

Had Lost Faith in Banks.

Niles, Mich., Sept. 14.—Peter Warner, a well-to-do farmer living near Edwardsburg, lost considerable money recently by the failure of the Citizens' bank in that place. A few weeks ago he disposed of some real estate for $12,000. The money, which was in bills of large denomination, Warner, having lost faith in banks, placed for safe-keeping in a stove in the parlor, which had been unused for the summer. Last Friday night his wife, who did not know the money was in the stove, built a fire there and the package of bills was destroyed.

Postal Agreement with Honduras.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The parcels post agreement between the United States and the republic of Honduras, signed by Postmaster-General Wilson several weeks ago, has been ratified by the Honduras republic and will go into immediate operation. It allows all merchandise packages up to eleven pounds to be exchanged in the mails between the two countries. Heretofore only valueless merchandise samples restricted to 8 1/2 ounces in weight were allowed transmission.

Weekly Bank Statement.

New York, Sept. 14.—The weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Reserve, increase, $539,275; loans, decrease, $371,300; specie, increase, $2,764,900; legal tenders, decrease, $2,580,000; deposits, decrease, $1,417,500; circulation, increase, $732,200. The banks now hold $8,767,825 in excess of the requirements of the 25 per cent rule.

Millions in Gold Coming.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The officials at the treasury cannot confirm the report that arrangements have been completed for the importation of $30,000,000 more gold. The gold may be coming, however, as the high interest rates now prevailing in this country are tempting to London capital. Up to date about $23,000,000 in gold has arrived in New York on the latest run.

MESS OF ROT FIRED BY SILVER SPOUTER

CHARACTERISTIC "CURBSTONE ORATORY" HEARD HERE.

B. M. Lindsay, Who Was Sent Here
By Montana Silver Advocates,
Make a Senseless Speech—Raves
About "Plutocrats"—Contradicts
His Own Arguments.

B. M. Lindsay, a paid "curbstone orator" from Montana, spoke for free silver at the Corn Exchange square Saturday night, and made a genuine "curb stone orator's speech." He denied that he was a "calamity howler" in one breath and then proceeded to emit a modern "calamity howl" in the next. He denounced the "plutocrats" the "money kings," talked about "England," "Wall street" and "Lombard street." He said that the "crime of '73" caused all the country's woe, and said that free coinage was the cure for all ills. A very small audience—less than a patent medicine fakir would draw—heard him, and half of the assemblage was made up of gold standard republicans who went to be amused by the man, whose expenses, etc., are paid by the Western silver cranks. Not one logical sentence was uttered by the professional working man who raved about "grinding capitalists" and the fearful things that the "plutocrats" did and would do. Here is one of his bits of oratory:

Gold Causes the Suicides.
Twenty-five years ago there was no such thing as a pauper. When Charles Dickens made his first visit to America he wrote back in his first letter, "A country without a pauper. The people of Boston would as soon expect to see a sword of fire across Boston common as a starving man." Now it has changed, and it has come about under a gold standard. We have had high tariff and low tariff, republican and democratic presidents, republican and democratic congresses, but the condition has been growing worse and worse ever since 1873. A suicide was an almost unheard of thing. Last year there were 10,000 suicides, and 7,000 of them were attributed to the victims being out of work.

Janesville voters are too intelligent to be made to believe that the "crime of '73" is the cause of all the suicides in this country. Coroners' juries who find that men kill themselves while "temporarily insane" and from simi ar causes, should wake up. The "crime of '73" is always responsible, Mr. Lindsay holds.

He repeated the statement that the law of 1873 was passed "in a quiet way" when he knows that the Congressional Record shows that it was before congress for several years. He did not tell his audience that Senator Stewart, now a rabid free silver man, and one of the most bitter arraigners of the men who committed the "crime," voted for it himself and was one of the "arch conspirators."

Government Not Responsible.
In the following sentences he admitted that the government would have no responsibility in maintaining the value of a free coinage dollar:

"They talk of the Mexican dollar. It is an insult to the American people to say we cannot make a better dollar than Mexico. It is worth one hundred cents. Gold is not back of it but because it is backed by the American people."

As it is a well known fact that the present silver dollars are worth a dollar only because the government is responsible for them; and only the amount that the government can maintain at a parity with gold are coined. Mr. Lindsay admitted, in fact, that a free coinage dollar would be a fifty cent dollar; whereas, the bone of his contention is that the free coinage dollar would be worth a dollar in gold because "the United States could take care of itself, regardless of any other nation on earth."

But that is "curbstone logic," and doubtless Mr. Lindsay's services are satisfactory to the men who pay his bills.

Lindsay also referred to Hon. T. P. Keator's speech as follows:

"Mr. Keator spoke at the opera house a few nights ago and all the audience heard was China, Mexico, Japan and rats. Because China has silver and rats rats shall we not have silver? It would be just as sensible to do away with the Golden Rule because China eats rats."

Could not answer Keator.

Strong argument, was it? Mr. Keator promised to become a silver champion "if a silver man would tell him of one civilized, prosperous nation on the face of the globe that was on a silver basis." But Mr. Lindsay did not tell his Janesville audience of such a nation—because there are none.

Lindsay also said:

"Mr. Keator said that Thomas Jefferson stopped the coinage of silver dollars in 1806. He did, but Mr. Keator did not add that the coinage of silver dollars was stopped because there was an over-supply, and not a sufficient amount of small pieces, and that small money was coined but not dollars. If he had quoted history he would have said that. But he dare not do it. No employee of Mark Hanna's dare tell the truth."

Then the "crime of '73" was different from the "crime of 1806?" The records have doubtless been falsified by the gold bugs of '73—Senator Stewart, for instance.

He also delivered himself of this:

"This country can establish a bimetallic system of its own without asking England or any other nation. If McKinley is elected, what will the country get? Just four years more of Clevelandism. The speaker referred to the Indianapolis gold convention as being like a mule without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity. Four years more of Clevelandism meant four years of Harrisonism. They were all alike."

Statistics show that under Harrison's administration the country was exceptionally prosperous. We all know that the statistics tell the truth. We all know what kind of times we have had under Cleveland's administration. Any citizen can judge of the truth of Mr. Lindsay's statement, that "they are all alike."

It is not a question, in this instance, of the causes of the condition, but whether or not Lindsay told the truth about it, when he said, in substance, that the country was perous now as it was while Harrison was president."

Who Insulted Working Men?

He said Capt. Piny Norcross insulted every Janesville working man, when he said that this was a campaign of "Jonesy against dishonors," yet he admits, in fact, that the free coinage dollar would be worth only what the "American people" made it worth. They could not make it worth more than its bullion value. He admits, therefore, that the dollar would be a dishonest dollar. Janesville people know Capt. Piny Norcross too well to believe such senseless stuff as was fired at him by this man who admits that the dollar he favors would not have the honor of "this great nation" behind it. The working men of Janesville have been insulted, but not by Captain Norcross. The man who asks them to vote half of their salaries to the silver miners—is in whose cause Lindsay labors—is the man who insults them.

The whole speech was made up of just such rot. The Gazette is glad that Mr. Lindsay came to Janesville, for every speech that he makes and every "curbstone argument" that he creates—and inciting these discussions is part of his business—makes votes for McKinley; the gold standard; protection, and a return to the "depression" that ruled when Benjamin Harrison was president.

BIG TRADE IN FRUIT SATURDAY

One Thousand Baskets of Peaches Were Sold in the City.

Saturday evening's trade in fruit, broke all records. Close estimates by local retailers, place the number of baskets of peaches retailed during the day, at 1,000, and of the number a Main street merchant managed to dispose of 300. The low prices of twelve and fifteen cents a basket ruled, and many purchased twelve and fifteen baskets for preserving.

The musk melon market still remains "doodled," and early this morning they were brought into the city in wagon-loads. Three wagon-loads belonged to A. J. and F. Wells, who reside near Milton.

BOLTS AND A FLOOD CAME TOGETHER

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY THE STORM.

Residence Struck By Lightning—Streets Cut Up—Low Lands Inundated—Fair Grounds Flooded—
Washout On Railroads—Street Car Tracks Suffer.

The storm played hob in Janesville yesterday and lightning did damage in many parts of the city. Forest Park seemed to receive its share of "shocks." At 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning lightning struck the rod on the residence of William Evans, on Vernon street, melting the rod and shaking the walls in the bedroom so that the plastering fell upon the slumbering family.

Half an hour later a bolt struck a large tree but thirty feet from the Sturdivant residence, at No. 5, Jefferson avenue, shattering it into a thousand pieces and driving one piece three feet into the ground.

While the bolts were zigzagging through the sky, the rain was falling in torrents, and the floods did great damage in the city.

River Raised Fifteen Inches.
The water fell in a perfect deluge, and the gutters could not carry off the flood. Streets were washed out all over town, and the river, above the dam, raised fifteen inches.

A deeply was washed under the street car track near the Parker residence on South Main street, and cars could not cross it. Another washout also rendered the Fore t Park line practically useless, the damage being done at the curve on Oakland avenue.

The low lands in Spring Brook, including the shooting club ground and Athletic Park, were flooded.

The fair grounds were almost flooded, and the trotting horses were hastily removed from stalls that contained a foot of water. Men worked at the grounds until 4 o'clock this morning. The flood quickly subsided, however, and no particular damage was done.

East Milwaukee street, where repairs were recently made, was not damaged in the least, although the flood rolled fifteen pound stones down to the Myers' House corner.

Trains were more or less delayed by the deluge, and another washout occurred near the Black Bridge, where Engineer Crouse's train was wrecked some time ago.

NEWS OF THE CITY CHURCHES

What Janesville Pastors Said to Their Flocks Yesterday.

Pastor Southworth spoke on "How to Use the Bible." After pointing out that the world has produced many forms of religion and many so-called "sacred" books; and that the Christian bible must be studied in comparison with the other bibles of the world, if we are to understand its true place and power, the speaker said among other things: The bible is not an easy book. It is not a book for children. It is not a book which undisciplined and careless readers can hope to grasp the meaning of easily. This is proven by the fact that the wisest and most learned men in the various churches have never been able to understand its meaning alike. They understand it in many instances in ways directly contradictory. The disagreements of the various theologians beyond a peradventure that it is no easy task to make a right use of the bible. The fact that passages are frequently quoted from this one book to bolster up antagonistic views, shows how difficult it is to know what "bible" teaching really is. Armenian theologians and Calvinistic theologians both have their separate and opposite systems of belief on this self-same text book. How then, can the common people, the independent readers, without elaborate discipline and special education, hope to disentangle the perplexing incomprehensibilities of scripture? Where so many eminent "doctors" disagree, how shall we decide?

Then, too, modern biblical interpretation differs by many a span from the biblical interpretation of former days. What was quoted as "literal," one hundred, fifty or twenty years ago, is now quoted as symbolical or figurative. Who is to decide which is right? Where the literal leaves off and the figurative begins? Or what one of a thousand different things is the figurative figurative of?

These problems stand in the way of the bible student. They put him on his metal. He must not be too quick to assert "this means this, and that means that." He must bring to the study of the bible an open mind, a reverent spirit and a devotion to truth so deep and real that it will enable him to read and study calmly with deliberateness, and with perfect freedom to reserve his final judgment until his dark problems are illuminated by reason and experience.

There is no other way, but to study and hold one's final judgment in reserve. The other way of reaching recklessly and jumping to conclusions, and making the book mean what you want it to mean—what does that lead to? What do we know it has led to? Why it leads straight to what we've got—a Protestant pandemonium; an array of 146 contending sectarian institutions each asserting as conclusive its own scriptural interpretations.

When the Pilgrims who founded Plymouth colony set sail from Holland for this new world, the pastor John Robinson stood on the wharf and shouted to the departing pioneers a word that ought always to ring in our ears and act as a restraint upon our over-zealous love of finalities. He said, "There is more light yet to break forth from God's word."

How true it has been. And who can tell when new light will come? Who can tell how long it will be until the full light of truth will illuminate our knowledge of the world.

What John Robinson said at that momentous crisis is just as true today. And to the churches and to the preachers and to you I repeat, do not tie yourselves to one particular scriptural interpretation too tightly, "there is more light yet to break forth from God's word."

The changes that have come over the churches since John Robinson's day are not a whit more revolutionary than the changes which are yet to come.

This is the thought I want you to consider. Use the book as a help to onward progress, and not as a chain or yoke to keep you in a fixed and unalterable position. Use the Bible as an open door thought which you may pass out into the larger knowledge of God. Let it be a glowing light on your pathway. Do not use it as an anchor or a dead-weight to encumber the free activities of your own spiritual life.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

Interesting Sermon Delivered By Rev. Dr. Hodge—Other Notes.

"For whosoever shall do the will of my Father, which is in heaven, the same is my brother, sister and mother,"—Matt. 12:50, was the text of Dr. Hodge's sermon, Sunday morning, at the Baptist church. He showed how those engaged in the same work may become dear to each other, as Christ and His disciples. Those who help Christ's cause now are near to Him in aim and thought. The thoughts of the evening sermon were based on the second chapter of the Acts.

E. R. Buckley of Madison, and A. E. Matheson of this city, addressed the union Endeavor rally in the evening. As a result of the meeting a goodly delegation of young people from this city, will attend the State Christian Endeavor convention at Madison next week. The "Janesville Song" composed by Miss Eliza Stoddard, was sung with much enthusiasm last evening and will play an important part in the effort to secure the convention for Janesville in '97.

The Y. P. S. C. E. will hold a harvest home social in the church parlors Friday evening.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet for work in the church parlors at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

FINE CROP OF LEAF IS IN THE SHEDS

DANGER OF DAMAGE IS NOT YET PAST.

Packers and Growers Are Now Anxiously Waiting—How the Badger State Weed Sold in the Eastern Markets—A Week's Gossip From Evansville—County News.

The last of the '96 crop has been gathered considerably in advance of the usual harvest season. From start to finish the present crop has come up under the most favorable circumstances of any previous tobacco crop produced in the state, says The Edgerton Reporter. So far too, everything has conspired to give a satisfactory cure. Recent rains followed by warm weather was favorable for bringing down the hanging leaf to the proper color and texture. The danger from shed damage, however, has not yet passed and growers must still watch the curing closely lest something may yet occur to injure the excellent prospects for a first-class crop which seems now almost within reach. Some of the earliest harvested leaf already give evidence of the fine qualities we may expect from the crop in general if neglect in curing and shabby handling does not spoil what has so far been accomplished towards the desired result. The leaf handlers and packers are anxiously awaiting to learn what state offers the most desirable crop.

DAKOTA PASSENGER TOSSED FROM RAILS

THE C. & N. W. TRAIN IS WRECKED AT ELROY.

Ran Into a String of Coal Cars, Tipping the Engine and the Mail Car Down the Bank—Three People Somewhat Hurt—Boys Were Responsible.

C. P. King, a Chicago traveling man, is now quartered at the Hotel Myers, and spent Sunday in congratulating himself that he is alive after passing through a railroad wreck on the Northwestern road.

Mr. King, after transacting business in Winona, boarded the "Dakota passenger" Saturday evening for this city, but at 11:30 o'clock while pulling into the Elroy yards at the rate of thirty miles an hour, the big engine struck a string of loaded coal cars. The result of the collision threw the passengers from their seats. The engine rolled down the bank, and was wrecked. The mail car was also thrown from the track, while the coal cars and their contents were tossed in all directions.

Janesville passengers were transferred at Elroy, to the St. Paul vestibule train, arriving in this city an hour late.

The engineer and fireman, Brig Young and David Fowler, went over with the engine into a ditch, a fall of about six feet. The men escaped with only slight bruises. Mrs. Queen, of Indianapolis, Indiana, was also slightly wounded. It is thought that some boys playing with the cars in the yard released the brakes and allowed the cars to run out on the main track, causing the wreck.

VEGETABLE TOYS.

How the Little Folks Can Have Some Fun on Stormy Days.

With some clean potatoes, some carrots, parsnips and toothpicks a rainy afternoon can be made so short that supper will come hours before it is expected. The potatoes should be small and as knobby and queer shaped as it is possible to get them. The parsnips and carrots should be washed clean, and the toothpicks should be of the common wooden kind.

With these materials, all or part of them, and a couple of knives, a whole menagerie of animals and a whole roomful of dolls can be made. The toothpicks are used to join the head, arms, legs, etc., to the body of the animal or doll.

The pictures showing vegetable toys are sketches of some actually made. Of course some of the originals of the pictures were rather difficult to make, but a little care will enable the young animal maker to do wonders. Some of the best of the toys illustrated were made by a girl not over 10 years of age, but then she had spent three of her 10 years in a kindergarten, where she cut out all sorts of pretty designs in colored paper and modeled dolls and dogs and cows in modeling clay.

Sometimes a funny doll can be made with potatoes without cutting or shaping them at all, but it is more fun cutting the "mummies" to shape.

The horse in the picture was made with a carrot body and potato legs and head, and the rider was made of potatoes. The trunk of the elephant was made by slitting the tip of a carrot and bending it up, and the curly tail of the pig was made out of a hairpin.

There are no rules to follow in making vegetable toys, for rules and regulations and directions spoil the fun. Just collect the vegetables and toothpicks and go to work, and the dolls and dogs and cats and elephants and pigs and tar babies will almost grow themselves.—Chicago Record.

MAINE IS IN LINE
BY A BIG MARGINPINE TREE STATE IS GOING REPUBLICAN.

National Headquarters Estimates Put the Majority at 30,000—The Democratic National Headquarters Concede Republican Victory By 20,000 To 25,000.

Republican National Headquarters (Chicago, Sept. 14)—Special telegrams from all points in Maine, indicate a tremendous vote today. The republicans will carry the election by a majority of 30,000.

Democratic National Headquarters, Chicago, Sept. 14—Specials from Belfast, Portland and Augusta, Maine, indicate a great increase over the vote of 1892. The free silver republicans are not voting with the democrats. The republicans will carry the state by from twenty to twenty-five thousand majority.

The Passing of the Piano Lamp.

Something to be a cause for thankfulness is the reaction from the piano lamp craze. Those who incubated long, narrow rooms with a full half dozen of these awkward furnishings—and many were guilty—had something to answer for in educating sotto voce profanity from much enduring men. Not that the craze has subsided; it is only lessened. One piano lamp is useful, but to multiply that and stand them about as if they had walked out to take their places in a waltz or to see how many intruders into a half darkened room they could trip up in a day is rather too much. Then their pagoda tops of monstrous girth deluged the room with boisterous color and put everything else out of countenance. If anything, they are more perverse and ungainly than the corner easel.

The banquet lamp modestly rears its light at the right place upon a table or piano and may be clothed in a manner at once simple yet distingue. With a standard of Japanese bronze or terra cotta and a delicate shade the banquet lamp is beautiful. But a new horror threatens us—that is a tall candlestick, generally made of enameled wood and profusely decorated in colors, often of the Dresden style. It is made to stand either on the floor or the table.—Hester M. Poole in Household News.

X Rays and Lacing.

Queen Amelie of Portugal, who, as every one knows, is a qualified doctor, has perceived that X rays might be utilized to demonstrate the evils of tight lacing. She has taken photographs of some of the ladies of her court and has been holding forth energetically concerning the contrast between the feminine form divine and the form as it appears when "improved" by the modern corset. One is sorry to hear that her majesty's well meant efforts have not met with much encouragement from her entourage. Some of the fair rebels have even gone so far as to flatly refuse to be photographed. If the queen perseveres, however, she will doubtless be able to regulate the size of waists, just as the Princess of Wales has killed many an injudicious mode by refusing to adopt it. To make a thing "bad form" is far more effectual than to seek to crush it by decrees or discredit by arguments. In England the custom of "squeezing" received its deathblow when the Duchess of York was married and the curious world was informed that the waist of her wedding gown measured 26 inches. Her figure is beautifully proportioned, a fact which no one can look at her and deny.—New York Recorder.

The Popular Watteau Coats.

The Watteau effect in coats continues in vogue, and while it cannot be spoken of as having the natty air peculiar to a close fitting jacket, it possesses in its looseness a special style of its own, particularly when worn by a slender woman. One of the Watteau coats has a double box plait starting from the neck. Another has two box plaits that come from under a fitted yoke, while one occasionally sees the double box plait flaring from under a yoke, though when this style is chosen for the back of a jacket the front is a simple sack shape with no plaits. Sleeves are sufficiently large to slip easily over those in the new bodices, and this means that the sleeves are rather smaller than they were. The box plaited sleeve—that is, the one with its fullness arranged in a double box plait on the shoulder—is given the greatest vogue, as it can be made, even in the heaviest cloths, to fit well.—Isabel A. Mallon in Ladies' Home Journal.

Says He Is Not a Dynamiter.

Dublin, Sept. 14.—John Daly, who was recently released from Portland prison after serving several years on conviction of complicity in a dynamite plot, together with his brother, arrived at Queenstown, near here, on Saturday evening. Daly declared that he was not a dynamiter and that he never believed in dynamite to terrorize the English government.

Payne Left a $3,000,000 Estate.
Cleveland, Sept. 12.—Ex-Senator Henry B. Payne leaves an estate valued at $3,000,000, which will be divided among the two surviving children, Col. Oliver H. Payne of New York, and Mrs. Charles W. Bingham of this city, and the heirs of the late Mrs. William C. Whitney of New York.

Brazil Anxious for Peace.
Rio Janeiro, Sept. 14.—President Moraes of Brazil has had a conference with Gen. Cerqueira, the minister of state, over the recent Italian troubles.

VARIOUS NOTES.

Wide Belts of Bright Colored Silk, Metal and Spangles.

Men milliners are no novelty, but a workhouse inmate 80 years of age would hardly seem a likely person to be a designer and maker of fashionable headgear. Such an original old gentleman has nevertheless been discovered in England by the Countess of Meath's Brabazon society—for finding interesting occupation for the aged and infirm in workhouses—and the taste and execution of this venerable creator of chignons are said to be excellent, although something should be allowed for pardonable exaggeration in his gratified discoverers. To adopt Dr. Johnson's remark, the wonder is not that he does it so well, but that he does it at all.

Some years ago everything Russian had an immense vogue in Paris. That was the season of the Russian blouse, which met one at every turn and at all sorts of places. This fad has not yet entirely disappeared, one of the latest Parisian models showing a skirt of white taffeta under a bodice of white chiffon batiste. The full gathered skirt has a border of Russian embroidery on the extreme edge. The bodice, which is bouffant, has a yoke of Russian embroidery pointed upward in the middle, while the deep sleeve caps of Russian embroidery are tight to the arm. From them escapes a full puff.

Belts, more or less wide or elaborate, are a feature of the moment. They contrast with the costume and are usually of a bright color. Metallic belts are much liked for more or less informal wear. The best are made of spangles mounted on strong webbing. Webbing belts are certainly a great invention. They yield to the contour of the figure and fit well, which rigid ones never do.

The illustration shows an evening costume the skirt of which is of cream crepe de chine over cream silk. The Louis Seize bodice is of taffeta, having a white ground with a printed warp pattern of mauve pansies. It opens in front over a vest of white taffeta, which is covered by the ends of a fichu formed by a frill of lace falling from an open collar of white embroidered taffeta. The sleeves have large cuffs and epaulets of lace, bows of mauve ribbon ornamenting the shoulders. The buttons consist of miniatures surrounded by jewels.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Gloves.

With evening gowns the suede gloves are worn. They come in all the delicate shades and match the costume in color or form a pretty contrast. As to length, they are marvelous. A novelty for holding them in place is the new glove fastener. It is a tiny jeweled butterfly, concealing a convenient little clasp, which is attached to the glove. From this is a ribbon, the same shade as the glove, so arranged that it may be sewed to the sleeve and thus hold the gloves securely in place. Gloves for calling are in glace kind and are given a distinguished air by an embroidery in silver or gold. Pearl gray gloves have silver stitching and silver buttons, and canary colored gloves are embroidered with gold threads.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Woman Lawyers in Canada.

Miss Clara Brett Martin of Canada is in this country getting the opinion of judges and lawyers on the subject of women in the legal profession. Miss Martin has been trying for years to gain admission to the bar of Ontario and has just been notified that a certificate signed by a sufficient number of legal authorities to the effect that female practitioners have not been found to detract from the dignity of the law might induce the Ontario powers that be to reopen her case. Miss Martin is not in the least discouraged by her many failures and says that she intends to practice law, and to practice it in Canada and nowhere else.—Exchange.

COAL WAR RAGING; PRICE GOES DOWN

BLACK DIAMONDS SELL FOR $7.25 A TON.

Local Dealers Cut the Price Below
That Made By Crossett & Bonesteel
—Row Among Wholesalers at Green Bay May Have a Beneficial Effect on the Market.

A coal war raged.
Let all rejoice.
The price has been reduced to $7.25.
And it may go lower.
And it may go back to $8.
And even higher.
Depending on which way the cat
jumps, so to speak.

All the local coal dealers, with the exception of Crossett & Bonesteel, who recently added a coal department to their business, belong to the "local combine."

The combine price was $8.
Crossett & Bonesteel's price was $7.50.

Of course harmony could not exist
long under these conditions, and representatives of the "combine" called on Crossett & Bonesteel. The latter firm refused to join the local organization, however, saying that they could make a small profit at $7.50 a ton.

The answer was not satisfactory to the "combine," and it was agreed to reduce the combine price, from $8 to $7.25 a ton, thus going Crossett &
Bonesteel, twenty-five cents better.

And there you are.
The next move was awaited with interest.

'Cheap Coal' Coming.

Dealers are not anxious to make large contracts at that price, however, and one dealer would not hold the
more than twenty-four hours.

The story was also current about town today, to the effect that the Green Bay wholesalers were having a fight among themselves, and that black diamonds were selling in that town for $5 a ton. It was said that 500 tons of coal, bought on that basis, was on its way to this city, but this statement could not be verified.

Janesville people will be glad to hear that a reduction in price is to be made, as will also the dealers. The dealers are as tightly clasped in the iron grip of the "trust" as are the consumers, and they do not enjoy the squeezing process any more than the man "who carries out the ashes." If the wholesalers have gotten into a

DEATH ENDS EARTHLY WOES

Catherine Farnham Smith died

Sunday noon at the home of her son-in-law, J. P. Thomas, in the town of La Prairie. Mrs. Smith was the widow of Sidney Smith, to whom she was married April 23, 1834, and who died in April, 1866. She leaves to mourn her loss, beside the grandchildren in Mr. Thomas' family, one son,
A. R. Thomas, of Kansas.

Mrs. Smith was eighty-seven years and five months old, and had been in feeble health for several years, although she was seriously ill only ten days.

She was one of the old settlers of Rock county, and will be greatly missed by those who have always known her as a kind neighbor and true friend, ever ready to assist those more unfortunate than herself. She was a charter member of the Emerald Grove church. The funeral service will be held at the home Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock, and the burial will be made at the Emerald Grove cemetery.

SUTTON WAS SHOT BY THE OFFICER

BLOODY FIGHT AT EDGERTON
SUNDAY MORNING.

Two Men Tried to Rescue Night
Watchman Rotzlann's Prisoner, and One of Them Got a Bullet in His Leg—Police-man Roughly Handled —Fought in Jail Corridor.

A bloody four-cornered fight occurred at Edgerton early Sunday morning, when two toughs tried to "do up" a policeman, and rescue a companion.
The injured:

SUTTON, CHARLES, one of the attack-
leg broken. Scalp wounds. Will recover.

ROTZLANN, AUGUST, night watchman, scalp wounds and bruises. Injuries not serious.

A gang of men were "having a time" in W. P. Burdick's saloon, keeping the place open until 3 o'clock in the morning. One of the men came out on the street and was raising a disturbance, when Night Watchman Rotzlann placed him under arrest. The officer had his prisoners almost at the door of the lock up, when two of the others came to the prisoner's assistance. They attacked Rotzlann, and wrestling his cane from him, proceeded to beat him with it. Rotzlann was knocked down, and quite painfully hurt about the head and arms, but he was
"game" and continued to resist. The men could not get the keys to the cells, and after they had fought all over the lock-up corridor, Rotzlann succeeded in getting his arm free. Drawing his revolver, he fired three shots, one of which struck Sutton in the right leg. It was also found that Sutton's left leg had been broken either in the melee, or when he fell after the shooting. He was taken home and will recover. He has a wife and family.

Public sentiment is strongly with the police officer. It is said that the council will probably revoke Burdick's saloon license at the next meeting.

The man who helped Sutton in the fight, escaped and has not yet been captured, although officers are looking

Care of Bamboo Furniture.

The pretty and inexpensive bamboo furniture so much used now requires to be treated differently from the ordinary wooden furniture. As bamboo is liable to crack and come apart it must be treated to counteract the ill effects of dryness in the room. According to one authority this furniture ought to be exposed to the air whenever possible. Do not place too near a fire, and it should be rubbed regularly with equal parts of linseed oil and turpentine applied with a flannel and then rubbed in with a soft cloth. An occasional wash in cold water, followed by a thorough drying, is good for bamboo furniture.

fessional career 10 or 12 years ago. At first she taught a class for nothing, but she was soon struck by the idea that she had a money making occupation at her hand and began charging a regular fee for her instructions. Ever since then she has had all she could do in the way of conducting classes, has traveled from place to place wherever classes have been organized and has lately introduced an invention in the shape of a stereo-

THE LITTLE CLOUD.

A cloud has come between us—you nor I
Have dared, dear heart, to ask the reason why.
Tho' but a little vagrant and viewless cloud,
I feel it threaten all our joy to shroud.

O heart of mine, remember that love's skies
Are but reflections of your azure eyes!

The little cloud that fills me now with fears
Was born, mayhap, dear heart, of idle tears.

You weep—you say you know not why—and yet
When meteors arise methinks love's sun has set!

Love, if you love me, let no cloudlet skim
Athwart my heaven—no tear your eyes bedim.

Let of a tear be born a cloud, a doubt
To grow and grow till joy be blotted out!

—Mary Norton Bradford in St. Louis Republic.

LIEUT. SWASH'S LOVE

"In love, lieutenant!" I cried, almost starting from my seat, so greatly had he surprised me.

My friend Swash generated a great cloud of smoke in his pipe, and it so enveloped his head that I could not see his face, deeply flushed as it must have been, and from the cloud of gray vapor came the gruff reply:

"Yes, in love, confound it!"
"Oh, how interesting!" exclaimed my wife, dropping her magazine and looking up at my friend and myself, whom she had always previously declared to be most uninteresting when we got together over our pipes.

"It is not very pleasant for me," muttered Swash. He was greatly embarrassed and fixed his eyes pensively on the floor.

"What is her name?" I asked.
"I don't know," he answered brusquely.

"Where does she live?" ventured my wife.

"Don't know that."

"Where did you meet her?" said I.

"Can't tell that either, Dockboy. Don't think me disagreeable. If I could, I would gladly answer your questions. Indeed, I wish that I was able to."

"Your case is truly a strange one," I said. "Is this young woman purely an ideal, a mental creature of your own? You have been melancholy enough of late to have been sighing for something more material."

"She is not a mere creation of my imagination," replied the lieutenant solemnly. "She exists—where I don't know. I saw her once a great way off, and she realized all my ideals of the woman I would make Mrs. Swash. And when I saw her, for an instant though it was, I cried to myself: 'Here, Swash, is the woman you have dreamed of all these years. That soft, intellectual face, those soulful eyes, they belong to the woman you have been waiting for.' Then she was gone, from where and whither I don't know, for I can't tell where I saw her."

Swash sent a beautiful ring of smoke circling upward toward the ceiling, and on it he fixed his eyes, watching it as it swung away into the air, became thinner and thinner and finally disappeared, and where it had been he kept his gaze fixed so that it seemed that he was looking off into space, unconscious of our presence. My wife glanced meaningfully at me, as though she suspected that our visitor's mind was either permanently or temporarily deranged.

"Your case is really most remarkable," I said. "Explain. Don't surround yourself with such an air of mystery. It would relieve you to confide your troubles in us. Perhaps we could help you."

"Yes, indeed," cried my wife enthusiastically. "Perhaps we can help you."

Swash started. "Ah, yes. Where did I leave off? Perhaps you can—indeed, yes."

"Perhaps we can assist you," I repeated.

"I think not, Dockboy," he said, having recovered himself. "For my case is truly remarkable. I have swept the skies with a telescope and cannot find her. I have walked the streets day and night, scrutinizing thousands of windows, and still have not a trace of her. You see, I saw her under the most peculiar circumstances, but see her I did, and I lost my heart. From a satisfied bachelor of 50 I have been metamorphosed into a lovelorn, disappointed, unhappy—I can't get a word to fit my case."

"Your use of a telescope is queer," I interrupted. "I have suspected all along that you saw her in the skies."

"You have guessed my secret," he said mournfully. "It happened that one night about a month ago I was walking down Broadway on the way home to my boarding house," continued my friend. "It seems to me that I had been up here to see you. At Fortieth street, as ill luck would have it, I ran across one of those itinerant astronomers who had set up a telescope on the pavement and hung out a small sign calling attention to the fact that Saturn and its rings could be seen for 5 cents. Business looked dull and I kind of pitied the poor fellow. It had never been my fortune to gaze at Saturn and her rings, so I stepped up, gave him a nickel and fixed my eye on the end of the instrument. At first all was blackness. 'I can't see any rings,' said I. 'The lens is not adjusted,' replied the astronomer. And with that he began to turn a lot of screws. The blackness gave way to a hazy, gray light, that I suspected was from a theater across the street, but I said nothing and strained my optic nerve to make out the planet. It was of no use. I withdrew my eye and complained. The astronomer then discovered that the telescope was pointed wrong, and he looked through it, lowered one end and gave it a turn.

"My eye was at the instrument again, but no change was visible in the make up of the heavens beyond a marked increase of light. Once more I complained, and the man declared I must be nearsighted. 'Look harder,' he said, giving the machine a little twist. And I looked harder, but instead of Saturn I saw clearly a woman—my ideal, she whom for years I had pictured in my smoking moments. There she was, sitting at a window, one arm resting on the sill, her hand on her chin, her eyes looking directly into mine. Even in the half light every feature was clearly discernible. There was the soft black hair waving across a white forehead, the eyes, deep and full of immeasurable good nature, the rose of the mouth—everything that I had been seeking for. I gave an exclamation of joy.

"You see her now, sir? Does it rings show up good? This remark from the astronomer brought to mind a forgotten fact. I saw her through a telescope. Where was that window that could seek her out? I had looked for her better never to have seen her than under such appalling conditions. She was gazing calmly at me from the other end of a long tube. I could almost touch her and reach her with my hand.

"Hold on, there!" cried the astronomer. "You'll upset the machine."

"My involuntary movement to embrace what was not there did indeed disarrange the apparatus, and so badly that she disappeared, and where she had been a star was winking at me. As if I cared for stars!

"I paid for one more look at Saturn, but could find nothing. In vain I swept the skies and the house-tops and windows with the telescope and with my naked eye. She had vanished. I went home disconsolate. As surely as I sit here, Dockboy, I saw her. It was not a hallucination. She was sitting in a real window within the range of that telescope, but where I don't know and perhaps never will know. My ideal has become a reality, but under what trying circumstances. Do you wonder that I am miserable."

"I surely do not," I said, "if what you have said is true and not a mere imagination."

"How romantic!" cried my wife.

Lieutenant Swash sighed.
"Come," I said, rising from my chair, "we will go together, and perhaps I can help you. I will have a look at Saturn."

Not long afterward my friend and I were at the corner from which he had viewed his ideal in the flesh. The itinerant astronomer was there, too, with his telescope pointed heavenward in readiness for use. He greeted my companion pleasantly and apparently had been expecting him.

"Maybe you'll see that planet you've been looking for tonight," he said. "I've cleaned off the lenses so they'll work better."

"Planet! Beautiful luminary rather," muttered the lieutenant, stopping and screwing his eye into an end of the telescope. "I can see nothing but blackness now. Lower the other end just a little—there." He began adjusting screws with the skill of one initiated into the mysteries of the heavens. While he searched the skies above and the house-tops for miles about I scanned the heavens, the house-tops and the windows with my naked eye, and with my naked eye I accomplished more than he.

"Allow me to try the glass," I said.
"My dear fellow," he cried, "it is of no use. If I can't find it, after searching every night for weeks, you can't. There is nothing in sight. It's only a question of patience, of waiting until it again appears."

"Let me try," I said peremptorily. He acceded to my request. With the assistance of the astronomer I got the instrument in the desired position, fixed my eye to it and focused it.

"Pshaw," cried Swash impatiently, "you're looking right down Broadway."

"Them's electric lights, sir, not planets," ventured the astronomer politely.

These remarks had no effect on me. I bided my time. At length it came.

"Swash, don't be excited," I said, "but just fix your eye here."

"It's she again," he cried before he had his optic thoroughly adjusted. "You're right, Dockboy; we've got her. Now mark where the telescope points to. Don't lose it. Get the direction."

"Have you read what is below the window?" said I.

"Jove!" he muttered. "Miss Maxy Mumps, the actress, writes, 'I have used Dr. Hoaxer's harmless hair tonic and find it perfection.'"

"We've got her, Swash. We'll spot a window with that sign—why, confound it, she's gone!"

Swash straightened up and seized my hand.

"Dockboy," he whispered so the astonished astronomer would not hear, "I've found her, thanks to you. I can spot her window by that sign if it's within ten miles. Miss Maxy Mumps, the actress!"

"Look again," I said quietly, "and tell me what you see."

Once more he looked, but only for a second.

"Confound it!" he cried. "Am I crazy? I saw a girl in a bicycle and under it letters saying that if you bike you should ride a Duster."

"Gentlemen," interrupted the astronomer, "I'm afraid you ain't seen Saturn nor no other planet. You was looking at that advertising canvas down Broadway."

Lieutenant Swash has gone to the country for a few days.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Conclusive.

A young man just home from college, wishing to inspire his little sister with awe for his learning, pointed to a star and said:

"Do you see that bright little luminary? It's bigger than this whole world."

"No, 'tain't," said she.

"Yes, it is," declared the young collegian.

Sometimes it seems to weary woman that she must certainly give up. The simplest and easiest work becomes an almost insupportable task. Nervousness, sleeplessness and pain harass her and life seems hardly worth the living.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was made for her. The former is for the distinctly feminine, the other for her general system. Together they supply a scientific and successful course of treatment. The "Favorite Prescription" restores healthy, regular action to the organs distinctly feminine. It forces out all impurities, strengthens the tissues, allays inflammation. The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes appetite, helps digestion, promotes assimilation, fills out the hollows in cheeks and neck with good solid flesh and brings back the gladness of girlhood. With these remedies there is no need of detestable "curements."

Dollars and Sense

Some estimate how much a thing cost by its first cost. Others, who are wiser, estimate it by its worth.

We are selling Stoves worth just as much as we can learn how.

If we could make them cost less without having them worth less, we would do so.

Our efforts are in an another direction, We are all the time trying to have them worth more.

You can buy some stoves at lower prices than "Garlands", but none that are worth so much, or possess as many advantages.

Its Better to Pay a Fair Price For Something, Than Little For Nothing.

A trial of a "Garland," as a stove will determine. More Garlands made and sold than any other one make in the country. This is a point for you, the stove must certainly have much merit.

Why the Ladies Were Chilly.
 "So, your friend, the druggist, left the church?"
 "Yes; the ladies treated him so coldly that he had to leave."
 "Was there any reason for their treatment?"
 "Well, the minister was preaching on pride, and he said: 'O woman, woman, woman, take no pride to yourself for your face though it be fair. It is through no good within yourself that beauty comes. Give praise rather to the Maker of beauty.' And the druggist rose and bowed."—Chicago Tribune.

Accommodated.
 "Father," said the young man who was home from school, "you must not take offense if the farm does not suit me. I feel that my talents demand a broader field."
 "That's lucky, my boy, an' to yer credit ez well. Ye'll be tickled to know that I've bought an adjoining section of land, an' ez soon ez I git the fences moved every field on the place'll be half ez wide agin. Then ye kin turn in an' hustle ter yer heart's content."—Washington Star.

A Transformation.
 He has ceased to call her "Darling."
 She has ceased to call him "Dear."
 He has ceased composing sonnets
 To her "little shell-like ear."
 She has ceased to hurry madly
 To the mirror, when he calls;

 And ice cream and popcorn balls;
 This is not because these lovers
 Have been mixed up in a row—
 No, the simple truth is that they
 Are a married couple now.

Wise Old Man.
 "What made that young man stay so late?" asked the father.
 "We got to talking about the coinage question," said the fair daughter, "and did not notice the flight of time."
 "I don't think that story will do," said the old man. "People who discuss the coinage question make a lot more noise than you two did."—Indianapolis Journal.

CHINESE CHARACTERISTICS.

These May Be Best Observed in the Cities of the Flowery Kingdom.

From the Washington Post.—A very handsome and distinguished looking gentleman is Francis W. Harrell, a former citizen of Virginia, but now a resident of Shanghai, China, who, with his wife, is visiting Washington. Mr. Harrell lived for six years in Japan, occupying the chair of English in the leading university of that country, and there he met his future wife, who was the first child of white parents born in the mikado's dominions. Mrs. Harrell not only speaks Japanese like a native, but she is profoundly versed in the literature of the country. Mr. Harrell is now connected with the great shipping firm of N. J. Robinson & Co., and he comes to the United States to contract for some high-power guns, to be used by the Chinese in defending several of their important rivers.

"The Chinese government," he said, "is in a bad way, and any organized effort to overthrow it, if backed by a few capable and determined leaders, would doubtless be successful. The present dynasty is very unpopular, and a great many people were glad because of its humiliation by the Japanese. The despotic rule of the mandarins has deadened all patriotic feeling. They are non-progressive as well as tyrannical, and block the way to the opening of the empire to railroads, telegraph lines, and all other accompaniments of civilization. As long as the masses can be kept in ignorance their power and prestige will be secure. The mandarins incited the lower classes to the recent massacre of the missionaries, but the instigators were shrewd enough to escape punishment themselves.

"But it will not do to underrate the Chinese because of their defeat by a smaller nation. With proper military organization they would be a formidable foe to any power on earth. The men are brave, and they only need training to become first-class soldiers. "As a business people they are far superior to the Japanese. When a Chinese merchant gives his word it is sacred; there is no use in putting a contract in writing when dealing with them, and in rare cases one defaults his relatives or friends cheerfully comply with the obligation. On the contrary, the Japs will break their word whenever self-interest dictates, and the only way to deal with them is by written instruments. They are bright and clever, but lacking in the solid and enduring qualities of the Chinese.

"Shanghai is one of the most beautiful and well-kept cities of the east, and well deserves the title of 'Little Paris.' In some ways it is the most peculiar city on earth. The natives have a government of their own and the foreigners are allowed to govern themselves. There are large colonies

Germans.

"The prestige of Li Hung Chang has greatly gone down of late, and the coming man of the empire is Chang Chi Chung, viceroy of Nankin. He is enthusiastic on the subject of organizing a great army after the German system, and when he accomplishes his purposes he could put himself at the head of the empire without any trouble."

Women's Aid to Women.

There is one very good sign in recent times, the interest of women who are not compelled to work for a living in those who are. The favored ones who have their golden leisure do give strong moral support to the workers. It was the leading women of Philadelphia, New York, Boston and Baltimore, together with a contingent from Washington—call them "society women" if you will—who united to contribute the $100,000 which opened to women the postgraduate school of the Johns Hopkins university. The delay in starting this school was due to a want of available funds, and the women raised the necessary amount and gave it on the condition that there should be no discrimination against medical women graduates who might apply to that institution for instruction. They really raised more than the sum required and bound the trustees by hard and fast conditions never to take a backward step in this matter. In New York the same forces are enlisted to make it popular—shall we say—for women to know the law. It is a good and gracious sign.—Philadelphia Record.

The Earring Revival.

The announced revival of earrings is not pleasant news. Piercing the ears is a relic of barbarism that should never have been indorsed in a sensible age. They are rarely becoming, and, though the long pendants worn 30 years ago and which might have been taken right out of an African woman's ears were not tolerated in the late days of the fashion and probably never will be again, even the tiniest of earrings are unattractive. Jewels slipped on the fingers, clasped around the wrists or throat or thrust in the hair are more or less acceptable. When, however, it becomes necessary to tear and perforate the flesh to find a place for another gem, the taste for ornament has reached the savage stage.

Physicians point out, too, that blood poisoning may easily result from the ear piercing operation and is more likely to ensue now than formerly, it being a well known fact that the tendency to such a condition is stronger now than was the case 30 and 50 years ago.—New York Times.

Conspiracy Leaders Are Shot.

Manilla, Philippine Islands, Sept. 14.—The leaders of the conspiracy against the Spanish government in the province of Cavite have been shot.

Shoes for school at Richardson's.

Cannot Restrain Filibusters.

Madrid, Sept. 14.—The United States minister, Mr. Taylor, has declared to the Spanish government that the United States is most favorably disposed toward Spain, but that, owing to the extent of the United States coast line, she is unable to prevent the departure of filibusters for the island of Cuba.
